

How to wear Pearl or Moti Gemstone, Description, Properties, Type, Purity, Identification and method.

Pearl Stone – Moti gems are counted in critter (Pranic) gemstone. Pearl Stone – Moti Ratna is referred to as Mukharid in Persian language, Gauhar or Guhar in Arabic language and Pearl in English language. This gem is obtained from the belly of the sea horn. The pearl producing oyster belongs to a specific class. It is visible that pearl is formed from a type of secretion in the oyster's stomach which is produced automatically. It is known that when the smallest fraction of sea lime in the stomach of oyster is reached as food or by any other means, then the secretion produced in the stomach of oyster is thickened in a continuous manner by sticking it on the fraction of lime. . Eventually, this layer formed from layers of secretions takes the form of solid beads.

Pearl Stone – Moti Ratna is the representative gem of the moon planet. According to the “famous astrologers skilled and passed out from Akhil Bhartiya Vedic Shikshan Avam Parshikshan Sansthan”, wearing Moti Ratna is the best way to get benefits and compatibility with the planet Moon. If seen, the use of pearl gems as a beauty adornment has been going on since ancient times. In large and wealthy families and royal families, pearls are worn as necklaces and other jewellery made of beads. Genuine and true pearl is very valuable and rare, so due to inflation and rarity, pearl pearls are far from the reach of common people. But the seductive and pleasing form of pearl has made such an impact on the public that fake pearls have also been manufactured just like real pearls from plastic items. Various types of ornaments are nowadays made from imitation pearls. They also beat the real pearl in appearance and sparkle.

Apart from Sea, there are other sources from which pearls are obtained. But pearls obtained from the seashore are said to be very rare. It is particularly effective due to its size, color, properties and effects. Some of the rarest forms of pearl gems are as follows:

1. Gajamukta
2. Sarpamukta
3. Descendant
4. Shankhmukta
5. Shukarmukta
6. Meenmukta
7. Akashmukta
8. Meghmukta

But the above mentioned pearls are so rare that hardly anyone can get them, only their description is available. The most popular and most popular pearl is the sea shell which is also known as Shuktimukta in common language.

Properties of pearls based on the place of Obtained

Pearl gemstone – Moti Ratna originate in the different regions around the world. Its rank is determined only on the basis of where the pearl is found. Nowadays mainly the following types of pearls are available in the market.

- Basrey Moti – Pearl: – Basrey pearl is the best and very valuable in its category and category. This pearl originates near Basra in the Gulf of Iran. This pearl is world famous for its inner lustre and durability.
- Tal Moti – Pearl: – This pearl, obtained in the seaside area near the country of Australia, is of lesser value and grade than the pearl of Basrey. This pearl is white in color and it lacks brightness and beauty.
- Udan Moti – Pearls: – Flying pearls are obtained in the rivers of Shillong region in Assam, India. These pearls are very rare. The brightness of this pearl is strong but it is of rawness.
- Kagwasi pearl– Kagwasi pearl has a black aura. It is found in the Gulf of Mexico in the country of America, but this pearl is not sustainable according to Best gemmologist and in Delhi, astrologer Acharya V Shastri. Kagwasi pearl is also found in Venezuela province, but it is not beautiful and shapely despite being of white color. Kagwasi pearl is also found in India in the year near Jamnagar, Bay of Bengal and Gulf of Maner near Sri Lanka.

Identification of Real pearl – Shudh Original Moti Ratna

The purity and innocence of pearls can be identified by the following experiments.

- Let the pearl remain in the cow urine for day and night, if doing so, it is artificial if the pearl breaks.
- In another test experiment, if the pearl is broken even after rubbing the pearl with rice peels and then washing it with cow urine, If it is breaks, it is also artificial. If both the above conditions do not affect the pearl then the pearl is pure and flawless.
- If the natural pearl is pressed between the teeth, then in such a situation, pure and flawless pearl is cracked or broken, but artificial pearl does not break.

- If the natural pearl is put in the glass after filling the glass with clean water, then the rays seem to be radiated with water.
- The purity of real and fake pearls can also be tested by chemical experiments, but this method is quite complicated for the general public, so it is not being mentioned here.

A pearl is considered virtuous and effective only when it is round, shapely, weighed, smooth, shiny and colourful, and with its radiated rays. While pearl is a gem which generates an increase in the effect of the moon according to astrological opinion of Akhil Bhartiya Vedic Shikshan., in Ayurveda it is also used as an important medicine. Moti Bhasma is used for the prevention of incurable diseases. Moti is also used in many forms as a cosmetics. Pearls are also used in analytics, medicine and even in the system and Tantric activities.
