

How to wear Yellow Sapphire or Pukhraj Gemstone, Description, Properties, Type, Purity, Identification and method.

The most venerable and revered planet Jupiter has the distinction of being the Guru of the Gods. The planet Jupiter, known for its Brahmatej and Vidushita, has the same honour in the Navagrahas. With the sharpness of the sight of the planet Jupiter in the universe, it shows its planetary influence equally vigorously. The person whose planet Jupiter is in auspicious position in the birth chart, that person never lacks in good luck. But if this planet Jupiter comes into a weak or inauspicious state, then it creates many kinds of obstacles and troublesome situations.

The gem of Jupiter is Yellow Sapphire. It is a mines natural stone and is found in many parts of the world. Analysis obtained from chemical experiments has shown that a mixture of elements such as aluminium, hydroxyl and fluorine are present. By the way, it is also found in another caste, which is the Baluka Pradhan. This Yellow Sapphire is belongs to Sikata class is low in hardness, not smooth, but rough, rough and of normal shine.

The best and excellent Yellow sapphire is obtained in both white and yellow colors. The white Yellow sapphire is considered particularly excellent in this. This gem is available or found in many countries across the world, so depending on the variation of the country, this gem is also available in other colors.

Pukhraj Ratna is available in transparent form. On the basis of color differences, it is also classified into four varnas – Brahmin, Kshatriya, Vaishya and Shudra. Any Yellow sapphire – Pukhraj gemstone available in white color looks like a diamond jewel, not only that, even fraudulent and clever gem traders sell it as a diamond gem. The same thing also comes with regard to yellow sapphire – Pukhraj. The yellow colored rhinestone is exactly the same as the Yellow sapphire – Pukhraj gemstone. Therefore, by taking advantage of this deceptive form, many fraudulent and clever gemstone traders make a hefty recovery from customers by calling it a real yellow sapphire – Pukhraj gemstone Ratna. Due to the generality in appearance, color, lustre and transparency, traders get safe success in selling white topaz as diamond gemstone and yellow colored rhinestone as Yellow sapphire – Pukhraj gemstone. The business of crores of rupees runs on the same deception in the name of Pukhraj.

Yellow Hakik is found in Orissa region of central India. Most gems merchants or jewellers sell it as a Yellow Sapphire – Pukhraj and earn a hefty profit. The values, qualities and effects which are present in Pukhraj Ratna are very rare in yellow hakik. India cannot be classified as a country producing Pukhraj but other countries of the world like Sri Lanka, Ural Mountains, Brazil, Burma and Japan have the distinction of its origin.

Pukhraj is a very popular gem and it is found in many languages of the world. Known in Sanskrit as Pushparag, Pitamani, Gururatna and Pushparaj, this gem is called Piluraj in Gujarati language, Pokhraj in Bengali, Phokaz in Punjabi and Pushparag in Kannada. In the Burmese language it is mentioned by the name Outfia. The term Yellow sapphire or topaz has been used for this in English literature.

How to Identify Original real Yellow Sapphire or Pukhraj.

Cheating is common in Kaliyuga, for the sake of small things and profits, a person is resorting to fraud, although fraud is a fraud in the sale of all gems, but in the case of Pukhraj Ratna, it shows its extreme form. Experts have revealed their many opinions to identify the real fake, which, when implemented, leads to the knowledge of yellow sapphire – Pukhraj Ratna being real or fake. Some of these tests are as follows –

- If the glow is reduced or faded after rubbing the topaz gem with cow dung, then the gemstone is fake, but if it increases the brightness further, then the topaz gem is real.
- If the gemstones crackle or break when heated or hot on the top, it is fake. It is fake even if there is no change in color. If chopped or not broken at high temperature, it is real and if it is heated to high temperature, if it changes color to completely white, then it is real.
- By placing a real topaz gem in a place where a poisonous animal is stung, the effect of the poison is slowed.
- Leave Pukhraj in cow milk for one day, one night. Try it out later. If its brilliance is like that of the former, then the topaz gem is real, but if the brightness is low or faded, the feeling of topaz is fake.
- In the sun, if the topaz gemstone is put on a white cloth, then the yellow aura with the original topaz gemstones is shed.
