

Your Lucky Dates Numbers Days Colors According To Date of Birth Numerology

Find Your Lucky Dates Numbers Days Colors According To Numerology – best numerology blogs articles

Let us discuss a very interesting and popular topic through this article, this subject will be attractive as well as very beneficial in your daily life. And this topic is auspicious, inauspicious dates, numbers, days and colors according to the date of birth.

Numerology is a very interesting subject, it is a discipline in which you can know so much about a person by making a little calculations about him according to his date of birth and year of birth that even that person himself will be surprised that you will have so much and so much exactly how you knew.

You must have noticed that players wear only T Shirt or jersey of a particular number. In the same way, some people are ready to spend a lot of money to get a favourite number for their new car. In the same way, people buying a new house definitely see the number of that house. So what is all this?

The answer to this very briefly is that these people benefit greatly from certain numbers. Therefore, they try to get the same number in everything, such as house number, car number, mobile number etc.

For those who are still not fully convinced with me, then I have to say that because every number has a vibration and every number is ruled by a planet ie the planet. And those planets also have favourable or adverse effects on our life.

Now you tell me why you were born on a particular date? Why not give it a day or two before?

Every person is born on some date and according to this date of birth we can get information about many things and two of them are their Lucky Numbers and their Lucky Colors.
